CONTAINER TRACKING

MILESTONES

The milestones can be classified as Statuses, Notifications and Alerts

STATUSES

Statuses represent the exact condition of your shipment. Thanks to the status you can understand whether your shipment sailed, discharged, or booked.

We have 5 statuses. The meanings of them are as follows ;

Inprogress

The shipping line hasn't released any information about the container voyage yet.

Booked

The container is waiting at the port of loading and has not sailed yet.

Sailing

The container is on the seaway.

Discharged

The container arrived at the port of discharge.

Untracked

It is not possible to track the container because the shipping line has no online tracking service or the container couldn't be associated with any shipping line at all.

NOTIFICATIONS

The notifications are informative messages about the seaway voyage. Thanks to the voyage notifications you are aware of the usual stages of seaway transportation from the loading to the gate out. By getting notifications you escape from unexpected costs, inform the responsible parties, and plan the transportation after arrivals easily.

VOYAGE SUMMARY

It is a general summary of the shipment's voyage. It contains port names, vessel names, arrival/departure dates, carrier names, container number/BL number, shipment references.

ALERTS

Alerts are the warning messages that ShipsGo sends you when any abnormalities are captured.
Thanks to Alerts you can take action before big losses occur.

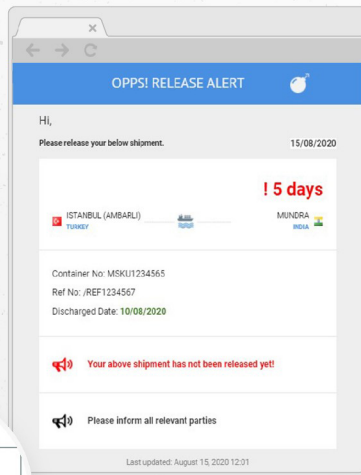

DELAY AND EARLY ALERTS

We check the carrier website 3 times a day and when any change is captured at ETA we let you know about the delays and early arrivals. It is the same format as the Voyage Summary but with delay/early explanation.

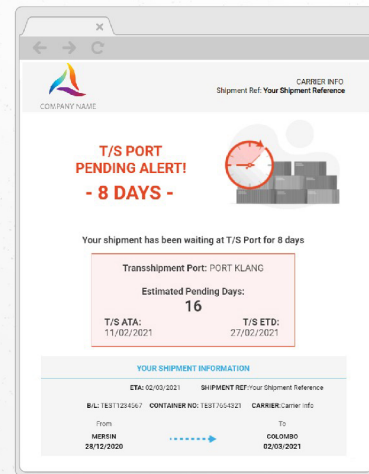

RELEASE ALERT

After your container arrives at the port of discharge (POD) we keep checking the carrier website to capture the gate out date. You get Release Alert with the number of the days when your container has been waiting at the POD if your container hasn't been gated out.

T/S PORT PENDING ALERT

If your container waits more than 8 days at the transshipment ports (TS) we let you know. Because your container may have missed the scheduled vessel. TS Port Alerts also shows how many days your container has been waiting at TS Port.

Make people happy with the information.
